The 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program offers payments to farmers who adopt on their land this year certain approved soil-building practices. Some of these practices are:

1. Improving pastures and hay lands by applying lime and fertilizer.
2. Growing crops that improve the soil, such as clover, alfalfa, and green-manure crops.
3. Planting forest trees and improving farm woodlots.
4. Raising soil-building crops instead of tobacco, or, in a few areas, other soil-depleting crops.

The filing of the attached card constitutes your application for membership in the County Agricultural Conservation Association for your county, and entitles you to a vote in the election of officers of the association, but does not place any obligation upon you.

If you are interested in participating in this program and wish further information, please fill out and mail the attached card.
